at night.

At the last annual meeting of the Agricultural Association as prominent farmer voiced a strong criticism of the fact that the association was doing nothing to foster agriculture in the community. The association car of course do very little unless every possible support is neceived from the farmers by encouraging their child-to put entries into the fair. The holding of this fair will be on excellent opprunity and the association trusts that the entries will be numer one. Even if a farmer has no children who can make an entry he can still be of considerable assistance by talking the matter of a fair up at every possible opportunity.

A special meeting of the colories of the colories held in the town office Wednesday evening last week for the purpose or carranging the relief scale.

In view of the recomenndations of the Department of Relief and Public Welfare in connection with the reduction of relief at this season of the year, the relief scale at present in use was given very careful consideration and it was felt that now the season had opened up for employment that relief recipients should co-operate and endeavor to secure employment and relieve taxpayers of some of this burden. Accordingly a new scale of relief for the month of May stipulates that relief for families will be $12.50 and $15.00.

A motion carried as follows: That the above scole of relief be adopted for the month of May and that all relief recipients be notified of this scale and also that all relief will be discontinued after the May issue. And that they are expected to plant and core a garden and produce sufficient vegetables to provide themselves with their needs for a mother season.

The Town Council has received the following letter from the Bureau of Relief:

The Community Newspaper

Few people appreciate in anything like full measure the tremendous indinence for good exerted by the country weekly newspapers of the western provinces in the communities they serve and the quality of the service rendered by the proprietors and editors of these weekly symposiums of world, national and local current events.

Mether realized or not, however, the fact remains and can be irrefut-ably established that the well-conducted and discriminately edited country weekly—and that means the great majority of them—fuffis an exemely important function in the town and rural district in which it circulates. Nothing else that the subscriber purchases can be bought to yield such value for such a small monetary consideration.

And not only in quantity of material does the subscriber receive great value for an almost infinitesimal outlay but the quality of the merchandise offered to the purchaser of the paper is an unparalleled tribute to the discerment, ability and integrity of the proprietor who shapes its course and determines its policies.

An analysis of the contents of the average issue of the mill-run of atry weeklies in the west demonstrates that considerable discernment country weeklies in the west demonstrates that considerable discernment is exercised in the selection of the news presented to their readers, that a high moral plane dictates the selection that is made and that service to the community of a high order is invariably maintained throughout their columns whether devoted to world events or to small local occurrences.

Partly because of this all-pervading tone permeating from the first paragraph to the last and partly because in many homes the local weekly is the sole printed purveyor of current topics no literature is more consistently and carefully read or with such close scrutiny, including the advertisements, than the country weekly newspaper.

Another factor which commends the country weekly to its readers and subscribers is the eminently same outlook of its proprietor and editor in approaching the problems of the day—whether they be political, social, religious or economic. Their utterances invariably reflect a breadth of vision and spirit of folerance so much needed in a world gone mend and at a time when too many turn saide to follow false gods or pursue spurious theories and "isms".

when too many turn aside to follow false gods or pursue spurious theories and "isma".

Then, too, much of the extraordinary influence exerted by the country weekly upon its readers should be attributed to the liberal space devoted to plans which have as their objective some phase of community betterment or improvement of the town and district. In this respect owners and editors give much of their time and energy to worthy causes for which there is no recompense other than the satisfaction which comes from having assisted in the promotion of a beneficial project.

Alongside the more imposing and voluminous metropolitan daily which is "sufficient unto the day" for its clientele, the country weekly paper may appear comparatively insignificant, but the latter is picked up, read and re-read and its entire contents of news, editorial content and advertising is digested and re-digested for a week until the succeeding issue steps into the breach. And it is largely because of this assiduous and intensive study and reflection which the weekly newspaper inspires that it wields such an important influence on its readers.

The country weekly also can be counted upon for loyalty to its readers.

and resection winch the weekly incompager inspires that it wields such an important influence on its readers.

The country weekly also can be counted upon for loyalty to its readers, subscribers and advertisers, for justifiable pride in the town and district which it serves and largo district which it serves and in so doing is worthy of support, in season and out of season, from the local merchanta, the local board of trade, the local sports organizations, the local churches and the people of the district, for the local paper is a co-operative enterprise, even though privately owned.

Without the services of a sound, sane country newspaper, any committy is bound to suffer and many worthy local ventures would languish and with of insuition and without the whole-hearted support of the many individuals which make up the community the local paper would lapse into a decline and eventually inherit a lamentable grave.

The fact that the great majority of the country weeklies have survived the gruelling test of a depression of unprecedented length and excessive exervity—and the casualities have been surprisingly few-speaks volumes for the high regard in which they are held, perhaps often unconsciously, by the people they have served, and are serving so well and so tenaciously, despite great handicaps.

The decision, reluctantly arrived at, to close to the public parts of Windsor Great Park near the Royal and Queen is a lesson to people who lave been indiacreed in their curiosity, comments a writer in the London Daily Stecht. A shet between a large eagle and A duel between a large eagle and A caproni airplane is reported from Addis Ababa. The machine was returning to the capital from an inspection flight in the interior, carrying two airmen and some soldiers, when it was attacked by an eagle, when it was all over, the auctioneer, Robert Lindsay, 44-year-old war ever, struck and damaged the machine and injured the pilot in the forehead with its beak. Finally it was hit and fell to the ground. The Caproni had to land.

The eagle, which was found by some natives, measured eleven feet four inches between the wing tipa.

Current history is rapidly explaining a lot of things to Alberta.

Take a look at Saskatchewan's drought area, for example, it is history now that the voluntary debt adjustment plan worked out there has met with popular response from farmers themselves. Over 9,000 in what is what is known as the drought and marginal areas have signed new agreements, leaving less than five per cent who have for individual or agreements, leaving less than five per cent who have for individual or percent areas on scheen to apply to the Farmers Creditors' Arrangement and the money, the Dominion government the provincial government and the money, the Dominion of the provincial government and the municipalities got together last fall, and here's what has happened in a few short months:

Dominion and provincial governments have written off relief in debtedness of 24,500,000.

The municipalities have written off relief in debtedness of 24,500,000.

The municipalities have written off relief in debtedness of roughly $21,000,000.

One. household only 20 to 25 per cent of the farmers owed mortrages held by companies (distinguished from private mortrages held by individuals) the companies have written off roughly $15,000,000.

The idea of a blessed life has been in the minds of men for many centuries. What sort of life is worth living and where can real happiness be found? are questions that all classes of people are asking. Many answers have been given, most of them directing greatily. Jouen Survival have been directed that question and gave an answer that contrasts strikingly with those of most other teachers but when put is the test of experiences. has proved itself well worth trying. Have many of us tried out His method?

It really should be shorn.

All through the week the barber frets
The children playing in the street
Should be sent in for a trim
So they'd look nice and sweet.

And so the week his rolled away And Sunday is here, The farmer trade drifts into town They come from far and near.

He sees the farmer once a week, And Saturday is the day They like to come in for a trim Before they go away.

The farmer walks up to the door
But sadly turns away—
Because the barber's waiting chairs
Are filled up every one
With those same kids on on the street
All week have played and run.

Fast, low, rakish craft crewed by hard-bitten, gun-spitting rum runners may soon be plying the Atlantic sea-poard with peaceful crews of Boy Secuts, if a bill now before the U.S. Congress becomes law. The measure, sponsored by Congressman Mead of New York, will legalize the turning over of captured rum runners to groups of Sea Scouts for cruising and training.
